Dimensions describe and record all we have done this past year. For some of us dimensions mean the length of tests, the height of basketball players, or the shortness of vacations.

To others, dimensions suggest the parallelism of teachers and students, mass migrations between classes, depth at Thanksgiving and Easter services, and the suspension of breath while awaiting the announcement of Homecoming Queen.

Still to many R-B-ites, dimensions recall the magnitude of teams, the prominence of seniors, closeness in the final seconds of a game, the erectness of our victorious team, the extension of the lunch line on spaghetti day, and finally the summit: Graduation.

The 1957 ROUSER presents—

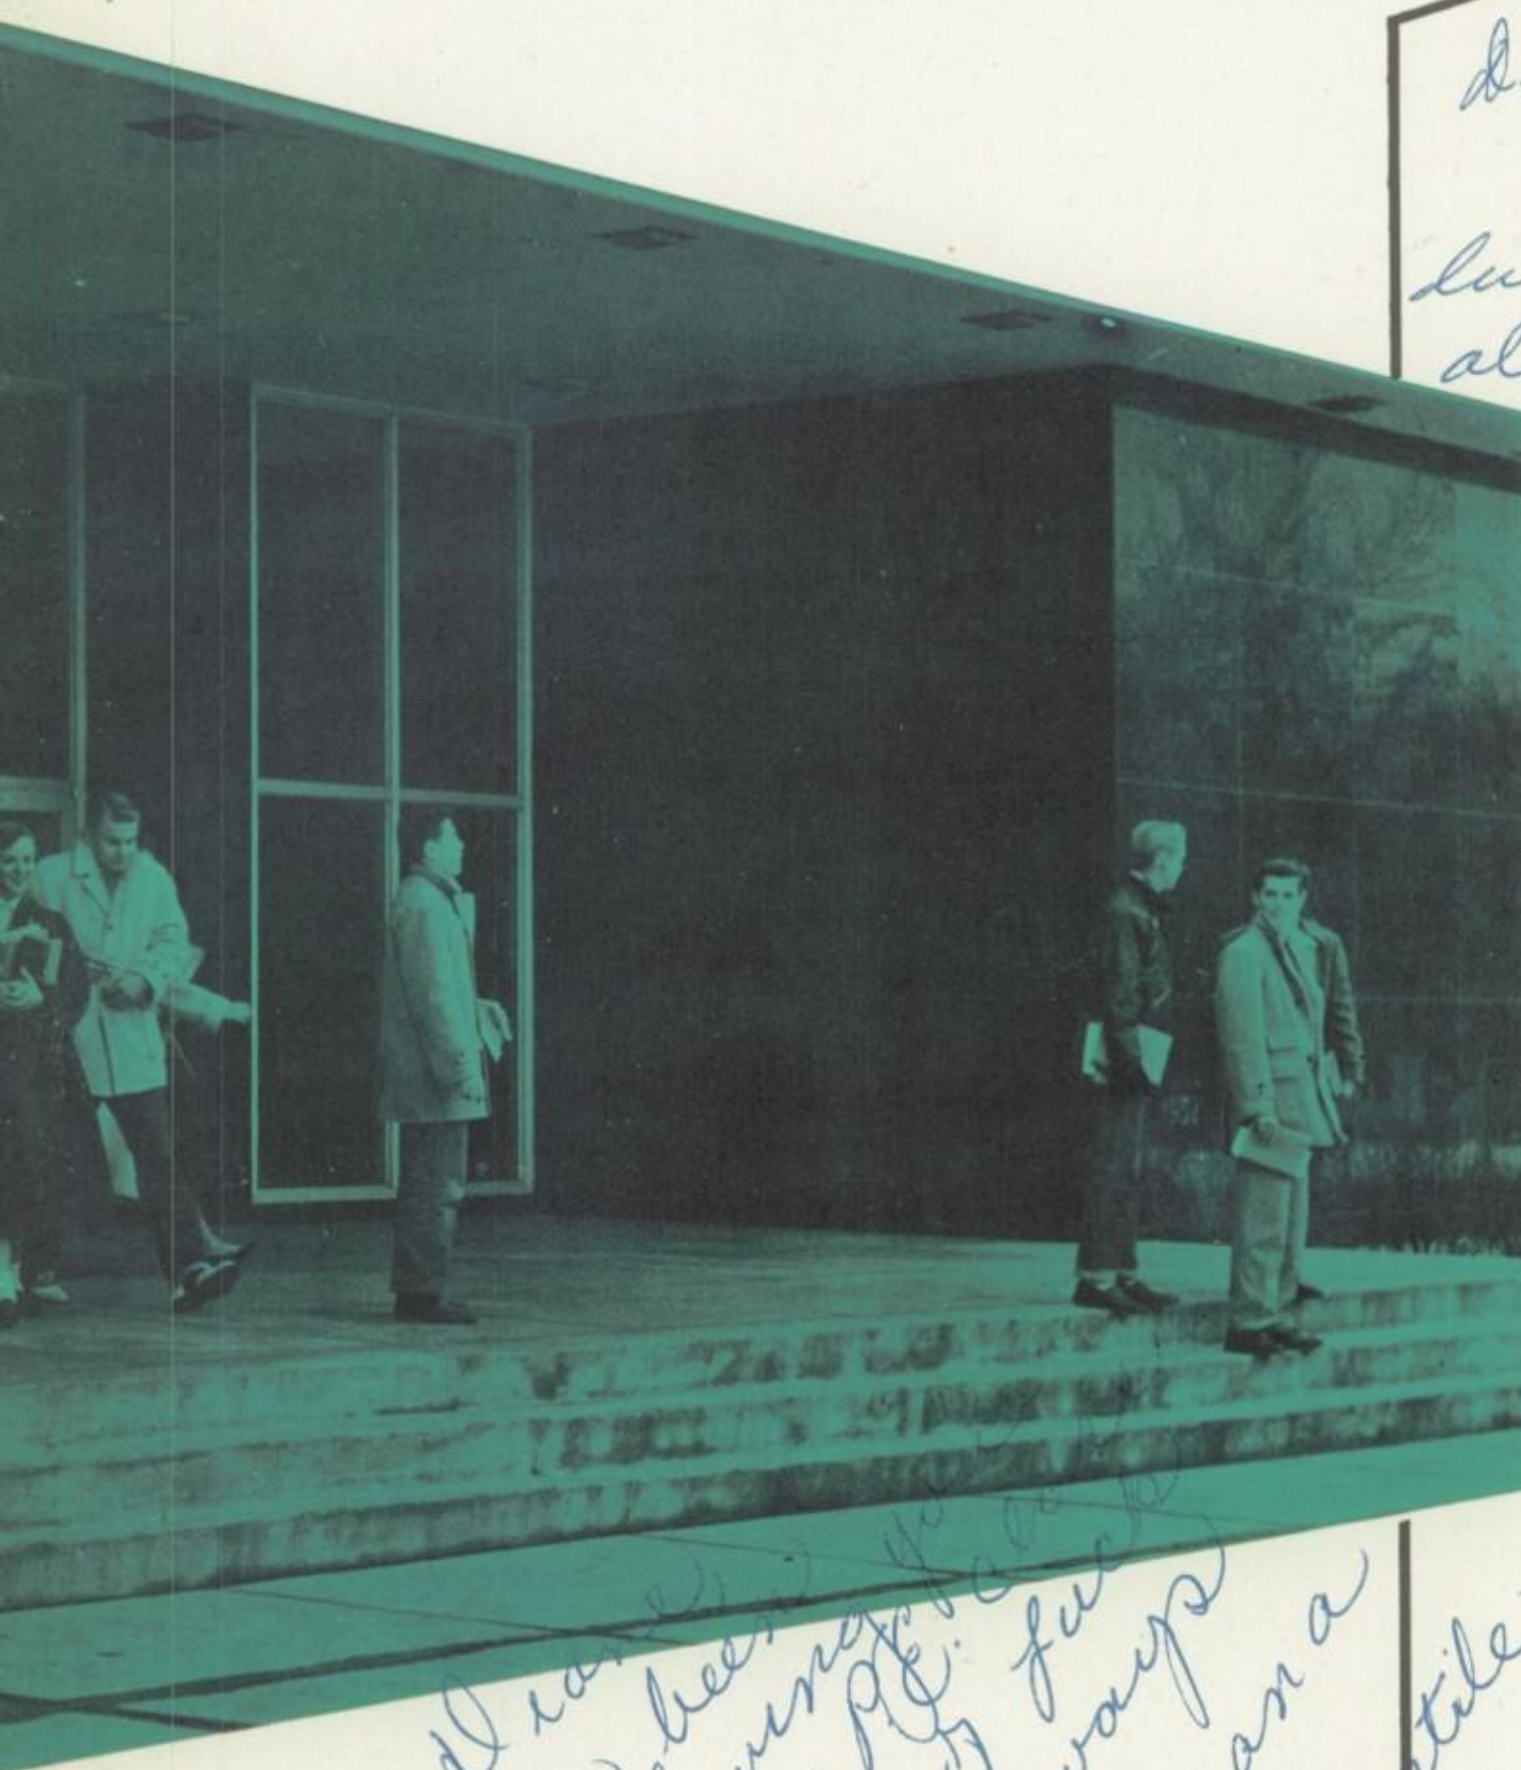

Dear Diane,
It's been nice

Providing an outstanding professional staff and selecting modern and durable equipment, the BOARD OF EDUCATION strove to meet R-B's ever-changing personnel and maintenance needs.

Under the leadership of their new president, Mr. Harry Bamford, the Board members discussed current problems and made decisions concerning the school's present and future at their monthly meetings.

Assisted by Miss Curtis and Dr. Brown, the Board did its usual capable job of supervising the selection and upkeep of the school's equipment. Again this year, a big project was the sponsorship of adult evening classes which offered a curriculum of both academic and practical subjects ranging from ceramics to chemistry.

It is with gratitude for their many hours of dedicated service and for their many achievements, the effects of which have left a lasting mark on the lives of many young people, that we dedicate this book to Mr. Hodek and Mr. MacGowan.

Mr. Hodek began his long term of service on the School Board in 1943. His resourcefulness, ability as an organizer, willingness to listen to the ideas of others, and working knowledge of how to put the precepts of democracy into practice became immediately apparent; and within a year of his becoming a member of the Board, Mr. Hodek became its president. Since then, the enrollment has more than doubled and the number of the faculty has increased from thirty-eight to seventy-seven. The stadium was built soon after Mr. Hodek became President of the Board, and the new addition was completed a few years before his retirement.

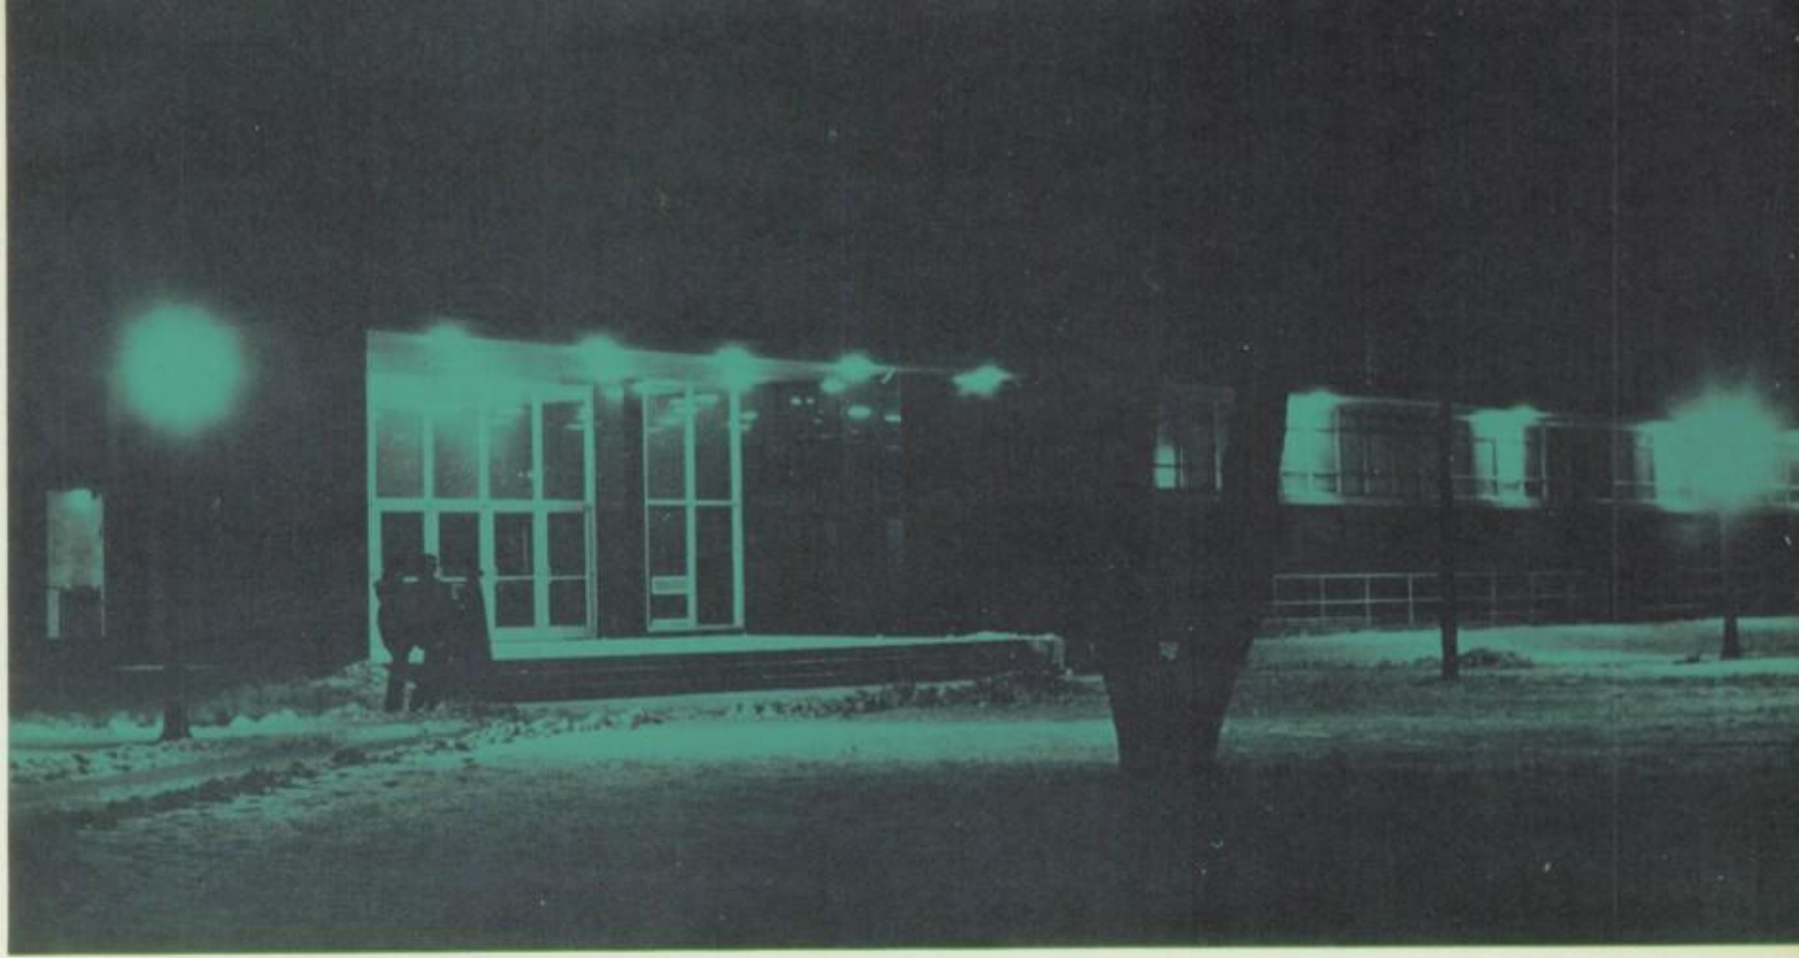

Mr. MacGowan served as a member of the School Board for sixteen years. During this time he took an active part in the civic affairs of Hollywood. Symbolizing his fine contributions in the field of human relations, Mr. MacGowan has received the Brotherhood Award and also the Yard Award through the National Conference of Christians and Jews. In his capacity as member of the School Board, Mr. MacGowan entered into all projects enthusiastically and as a former teacher, now retired, he was of tremendous assistance in making the plans for the new addition to R-B.

The retirement of these men in the fall of 1956 and the spring of 1957, respectively, was a tremendous loss to the school and community.

Ready for her English classes, Miss Kampe enters R-B on her first day.

The stillness of the corridor remains unbroken as students and teachers go their separate ways.

The people who spent hours practicing dives and strokes, building the Homecoming bon-fire, and frantically putting the finishing touches on the Hi-Y dance decorations made the difference between any other school and R-B. From freshmen to faculty, R-B-ites have an extra vivaciousness that can be called friendliness, pep, or just enthusiasm. Hard work, well-mixed with such informal fun as junior paper drives and club bake-sales made the whole school year, crammed with events and personalities, an unforgettable one.

The newly-organized boys' glee club carefully watches Mr. Gilbert during a number.

Getting an official go-ahead on photo schedules, Nancy Felt, Joan Ellacott, and Mr. Prince tell Dr. Brown the details.

Julie Good and Mrs. Kocour thoroughly enjoy a fine meal in the bungalow.

Courteous directions from Beverly Bednarik and Arlene Fischer help parents find their way at Open House.

Art projects provide LaVerne Havlik and Judy Nielsen with hours of informal work and fun.

Nothing tastes better than Thanksgiving turkey with the trimmings to Ray Pransky and Boyd Sauter. Ken Mietus seems longingly to agree.

A Valentine's Day party honors nine faculty members who have served R-B for 25 years or more.

R-B-ites head toward a pep assembly to boost the team to victory.

Clarion staff members Virginia Dodge and Judy Scroggy preview current school news and gossip.

A school is a thing of many dimensions. Most obvious, but least important, are the dimensions of the buildings and grounds. The width and length and height of a school provide the space in which the students learn and mature.

There are, however, greater widths. The high school seeks to cultivate in the pupils a width of interest, a width of knowledge, a width of experience. The richness of life is a product of this broadening of life.

The lengths too are not measured alone in yards, feet and inches. There are also the length of patience, the span of tolerance, the courageous length of endurance, the length of quiet perseverance. In this dimension too, the Riverside-Brookfield High School would help its students grow.

Height or depth are also human, as well as geometric dimensions. Depth of understanding and depth of purpose, combined with height of aspiration, height of vision, and height of faith are levels without which life would be a two dimensional wasteland.

The school would seek for each of you, its pupils, the fullest of growth in the many dimensions of your life.

In Memoriam

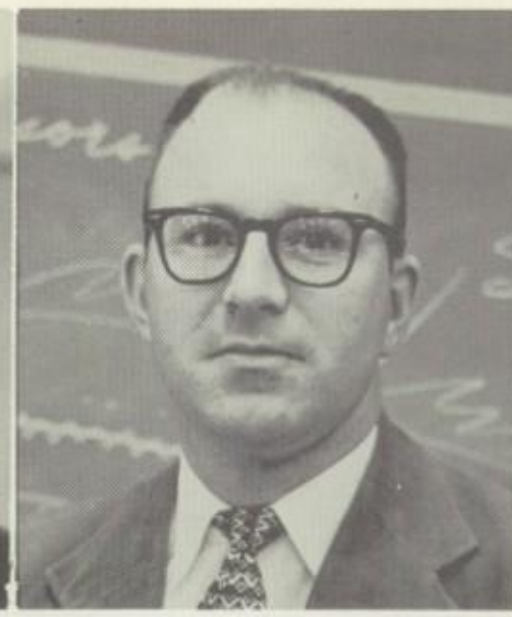

With fond remembrance and deepest reverence, the students and teachers of R-B wish to dedicate this memorial to Hubert Edquist.

To the students he gave his greatest gifts—patience, understanding, and a vast knowledge of natural science. Offering this knowledge and experience to all who desired understanding, he instilled in many young persons a love for the magnificent world around them.

To his colleagues he gave his warm friendship together with his time and energy in support of the faculty welfare program.

In a consideration of the varied dimensions of our school, two groups should be remembered: those who are living its story, and those persons who have contributed to its finest chapters. Mr. Edquist was such a person.

secretaries

Preparing student bulletins, making program cards, keeping club funds safe, and checking attendance were some of the tasks of the SECRETARIES in the main office, personnel office, and bookstore.

Secretarial staff includes: Beverlee Wolf, Mrs. Grace Arnold, Sharon Aldrich, Ardell Woodcock, Mrs. Vernon Bartlett, and Lois Stolf.

Roasting holiday turkeys, baking pies, and preparing delicious casseroles, the COOKS worked diligently to please the long lines of hungry R-B students. Each day during the year they managed to find new ways to tempt never-failing appetities.

Regulating the heat, cleaning the classrooms, and moving chairs and pianos through the halls constituted part of the work of the CUSTODIANS. Many parties and other activities would have been doomed to failure if these cheerful assistants to students and faculty had not been on hand to open doors, hook up microphones, and perform countless other vital services.

Jerry Sedlacek certainly isn't the only one who finds these complicated models of atomic structure interesting. Chemistry classes develop a keen awareness of what things are and why they behave as they do.

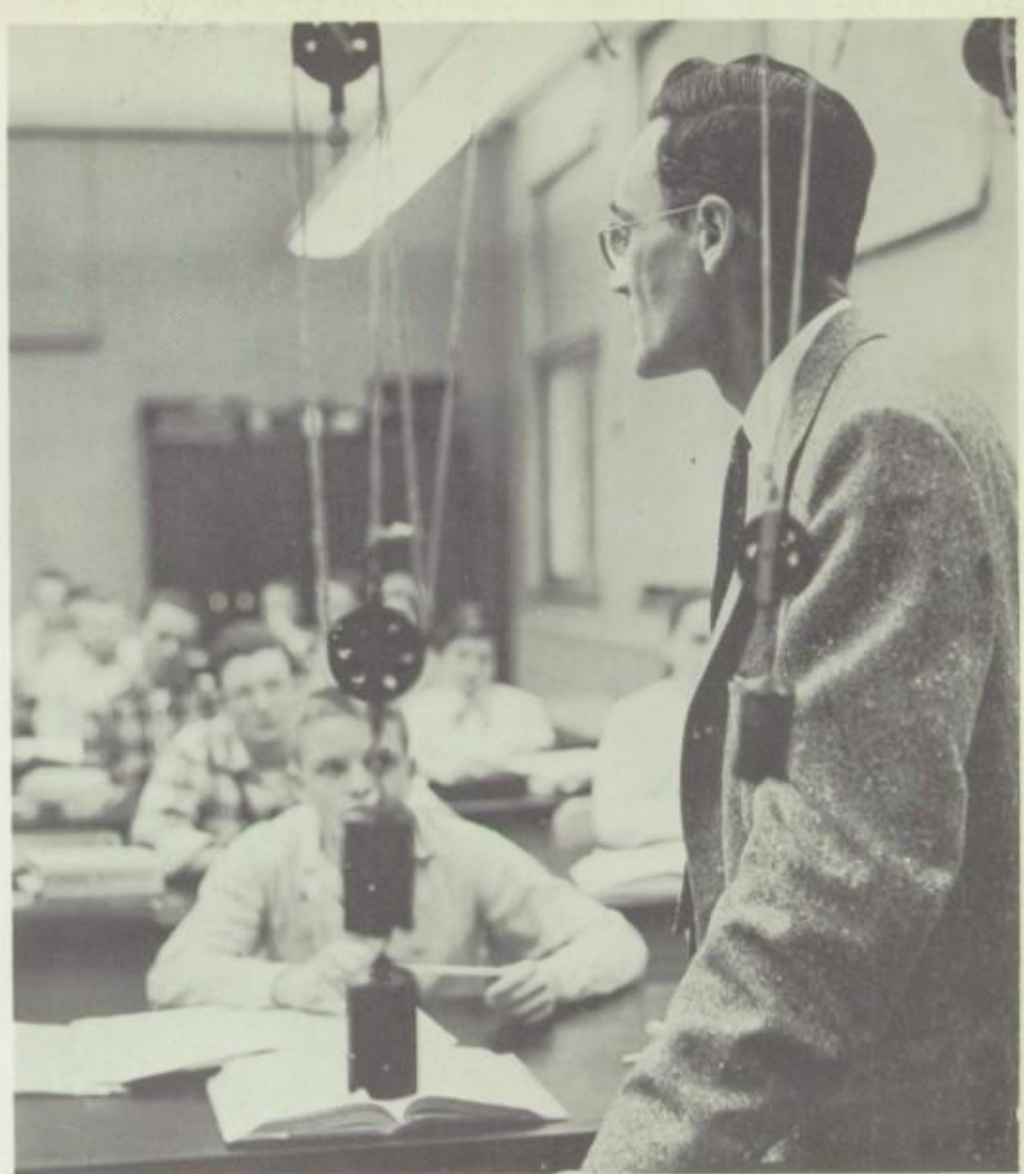

augmenting

Chemistry isn't all the learning of principles. Students like Jay Ward and Gordon Woeltje have an opportunity to test what they have learned by combining elements in the chemistry laboratory.

Dave Tauer aids some of his fellow students in comprehending a mathematical principle more clearly through a visual display.

In Mr. Compton's physics class students learn through demonstrations which accompany classroom lectures about the laws governing our universe.

precision and accuracy

Squares, triangles, and parallelograms are of the utmost importance in geometry classes. Here Bob McDowell, with the aid of a blackboard compass, demonstrates the properties of a circle.

Students learn to express their ideas in many different ways. Here Nancy Forst balances the interesting mobile she constructed in art class.

widening the scope

Miss Houston instructs a senior English class, including Carol Haubl and Joan Kolar, in the principles of correct grammar. This class is especially designed to aid those who plan to go on to college to write, speak, and think more clearly and accurately.

Music is a rewarding form of self-expression. Carlotta Spensley not only enjoys playing the harp, but also gives those who listen a great deal of enjoyment.

of self-expression

The boys' glee club is an important part of the music life at R-B. Here Jerry Chlumsky and Bob Prazak go over a selection with choir director, Mr. Gilbert.

Senior girls, Sue Dakin, Dianne Humel, Amy Dvorak, and Marie Janca, brave cold winds in an effort to light their buddy burners during a campcraft class. However, the reward, a delicious breakfast, is well worth the trouble.

increasing the keenness

Many boys find that auto shop gives them an opportunity not only to learn about automobile engines, but to actually develop their mechanical skills just as Al Francik, Bill Steinhau, Ralph Matzelle, Russ Birnbaum, and Rich Gabrisch are shown doing.

Ricky Caruso seems very intent on making this project for architectural drawing really successful. Combining art and mechanical drawing, this course requires patience as well as skill.

Aside from the normal cooking and sewing classes the bungalow hostesses like Janice Holzwart, Kristin Linn, and Lenore Viktora donate a period a day to aid the Home Economics Department.

of manual skills

Practice, practice, and more practice is said to be the making of a really good typist. Carol Konecny seems to be taking this advice seriously as she puts a typing session to good use.

Latin is much more than just the usual amo, amas, amat. Cody Engle adjusts the project which he has constructed from pipe cleaners.

expanding natural interests

Spanish students have an opportunity to do more than learn the language of those south of the border. They learn many of the interesting facts about the lives and customs of the people. George Phillip demonstrates the use of matador picks to the members of his Spanish class.

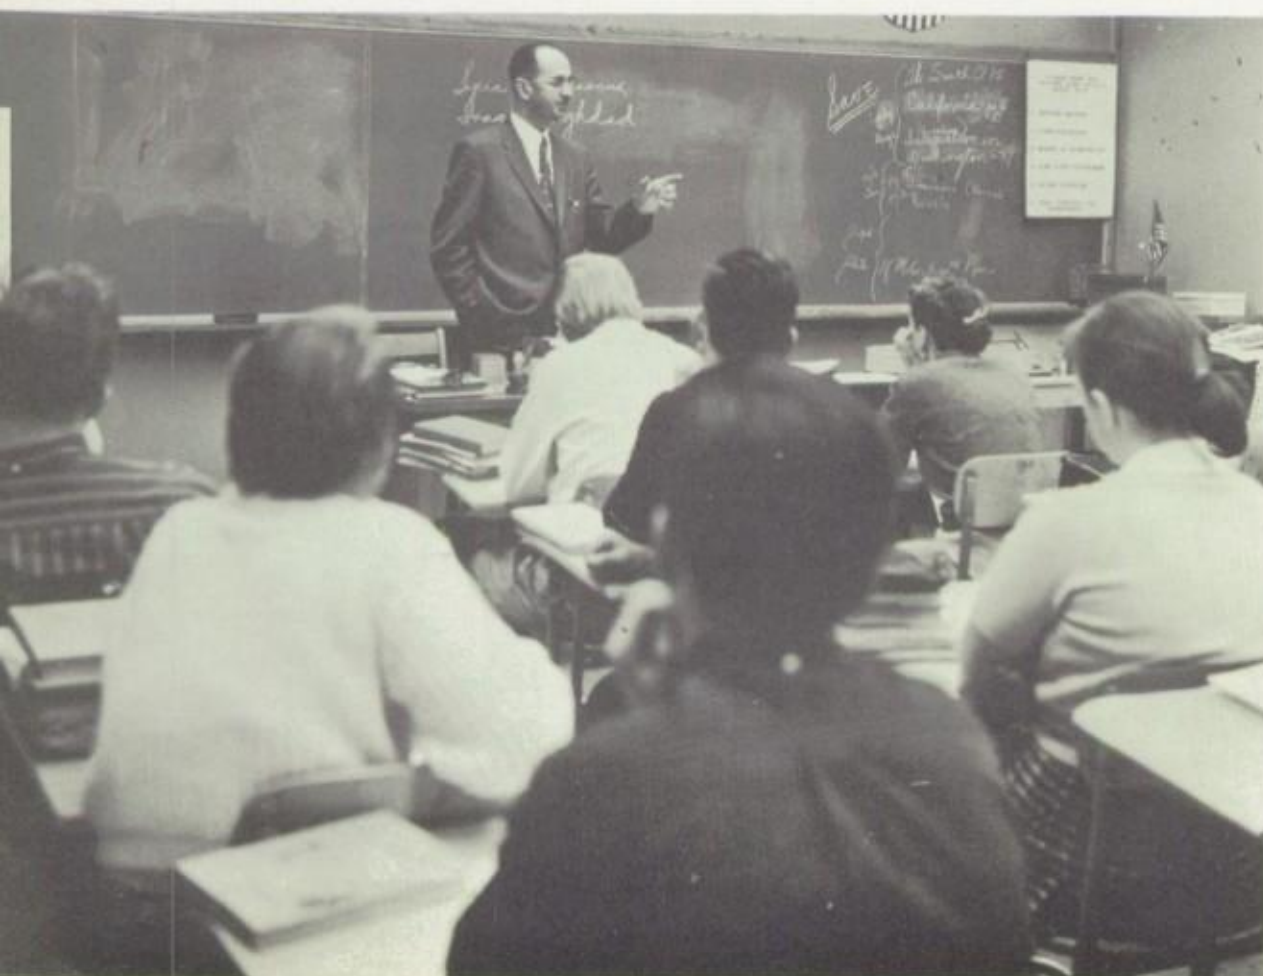

Richard Heinsen and Dennis Kennedy, encouraged by their study of ancient Egypt, put the finishing touches on their Egyptian pyramid which they created as a social science project.

Henrietta Bartizal proudly casts her ballot just as thousands of Americans across the country do. The mock election, held concurrently with the national Presidential election, was sponsored by Mr. Kaiser's American government classes.

in people everywhere

In senior sociology classes students learn about very important people . . . themselves. Here Doctor Sazama gives his talk entitled "The Birds and the Bees."

Contemplating profits to be used for the class gift, senior class officers Sergeant-at-arms Bob Cornelisen, Secretary Carol Ann Maxant, President Gary Doolen, Treasurer Mary Jane Links, and Vice-president Tom Hadac pore over the samples of Christmas wrappings.

Discussing the potentials of their "hot rods," the senior boys congregate in the hall during lunch.

Seniors Carol Schmitt, Carl Altheide, and Judy Scroggy augment the Christmas greeting to all R-B students.

High in spirit, the senior girls in Lettermen's zips, lead a jubilant cheer at a pep assembly.

winning bundle drive

broadening our interests

School council members Denny Walsh, Merrily Strohecker, and Judy Hummel do their share of poster work.

"Just an inch higher," says Wyn Hrdina to Carl Altheide.

The clack of high heels through crowded halls, girls wearing knee-length zibs borrowed from lettermen, whispered consultations about whom to ask to the Homecoming dance, and the anticipation of the Washington trip cover just a few of the innumerable ways in which R-B prepared for special events. Be the occasion a potluck dinner or a Prom, the word spread far and fast that something new was brewing. Then came the response. Freshmen and seniors alike joined in the work and fun to make their activities truly something special.

R-B's election day baby-sitting service supplies fire-engine enthusiast Mary Jane Links with an avid audience.

The girls' chorus perfects its music under the direction of Mr. Gilbert.

The crowded hours of rehearsal seem too brief to Mary Ann Novak and Dorothy Honsa as production night nears.

"Make that ki-ick!" pleads Carol Crane in a crucial moment of the Hinsdale game.

Off duty? Mrs. Broe and library aides Dorothy Endriz, Maurine Kelber, and Nancy Relic momentarily prefer food to books.

R-B Indians Lynn Olson, Judy Oetting, Barbara Hlavacek, and Sue Nerad entertain Sharclubbers as well as each other at the annual dinner.

Juniors Gail Glienke, Betsy Howe, Kathy Wagner, and Lynn Olson hilariously snake-dance around the homecoming bonfire.

Looking regal are R-B's 1956 homecoming court: Judy Nielsen, Barbara Oechslin, Queen Lois Johnson, Carol Maxant, and Marge Jehlik.

Senior boys proudly display the bonfire which they have constructed.

Flaring flames, the Queen and her lovely court, a spirited team, the streamers, confetti, and cheers of "Beat Hinsdale" all combined to make HOME COMING '56 one of the biggest and best R-B has ever seen.

The flurry of activities began on Friday night with a pep rally and the crowning of Queen Lois Johnson and her court, Carol Maxant, Barbara Oechslin, Judy Nielsen, and Marge Jehlik by football Co-captains Denny Paloucek and "Doc" Sazama.

The traditional snake dance and bonfire officially completed the first evening of celebration, but many R-B-ites worked feverishly until the wee hours to complete their paper masterpieces for the parade.

Saturday morning a winding parade of floats displayed the talent and ingenuity of these hard-working artists. In the afternoon, rousing cheers rang through the clear, crisp air as the Bulldogs went down fighting against a strong Hinsdale eleven.

That evening, R-B's eager fans joined together to climax the swirl of activity at the "Ra-Ra Ramble."

Straining forward, eager to do their best, R-B's Bulldogs line up against Hinsdale for a spirited game full of action.

Hats off to Pro Merito Club as they capture top honors with their green alligator float.

After the crowning, the Queen and court leave the football field to reign over the bonfire.

choral classics

The strains of a deep, moving classical song, the bouncy beat of "You've Got To Be a Football Hero," and the chords of an old, familiar hymn at the Easter or Thanksgiving service all combined to make this a noteworthy and pleasurable year for R-B's A CAPPELLA CHOIR, under its new director, Mr. Paul H. Gilbert.

This year for the first time, a BOYS' GLEE CLUB was formed. Its members met one school night each week and through concentration and hard work, prepared a medley of numbers, some of which they presented at the January Music Sponsors' meeting in their first public appearance.

Mr. Gilbert also coached several girls' ensembles and glee clubs. All these music groups joined to present the Music Festival in the spring.

Great classical works, popular rhythm tunes, traditional Christmas carols, and "Pomp and Circumstance" were included in the repertoire of the ORCHESTRA.

This group provided musical entertainment for various school activities. For the first time, the orchestra joined the A Cappella choir to present the Christmas concert. They also presented their own concert in the spring.

Soloists and ensembles from the orchestra competed in the district and state music contests and represented the school at the All-State Orchestra in Springfield. In April, R-B was host to the fourth annual West Suburban Conference Music Festival.

Several orchestra members received scholarships from the Music Sponsors to music camp at the University of Illinois.

Habitual morning marches, spontaneous jam sessions, and formations of intricate patterns on the football field are part of the customary activities of the BAND.

The band members exhibited their ability to raise R-B's school spirit to great heights by playing for pep assemblies and giving half-time shows at football games. The strains of morning practices could be heard as diligent band members developed the needed rhythm of spirited arrangements.

The band also participated in the West Suburban Conference Music Festival held this year at R-B. This inspiring performance highlighted the band's activities.

Roman togas, the singing of "Adeste Fideles," and a green alligator with red eyes all contributed to a successful year for PRO MERITO.

The club, open to all Latin students with at least a "B" average, was more active than usual in the past year. The biggest task and greatest achievement was the construction of the first-prize float at the Homecoming parade. Other highlights of the year included the Christmas party and Roman Banquet.

latins of two continents

"Muchas gracias," a pinata, and "Casca-bel" were trademarks of the SPANISH CLUB.

This year with the help of movies and guest speakers at the regular monthly meetings, the members, under the new sponsor Mrs. West, broadened their interest in Spanish and Spanish-speaking countries. Spanish Club members also participated in other events including building a float for the Homecoming parade and attending the Language Clubs' Christmas party where they presented an educational and enjoyable program. First, the Christmas customs of Latin American countries were explained, and then the club conducted the contest of breaking the pinata, which resulted in laughs and candy for everyone.

Providing charitable gifts to the needy, dining in European restaurants, and planning a refreshing summer picnic occupied FRENCH CLUB members this year.

Formally and informally this group strove to promote better understanding of the French people, language, and culture.

After fall organization was completed, the group launched an active Christmas project, "Operation Spirit of Christmas" by sending gifts to Korean orphans. In addition to special highlights, the entire year's activities were varied by French movies and speakers.

of european life

Opening its doors for the first time, GERMAN CLUB admitted forty-seven members who were eager to develop a better understanding of Germany, its life, its people, and its customs.

During its first year on the R-B scene, the German Club had an active and interesting program. Skits and plays were presented, and guest speakers informed students on many phases of German culture. Independent study was done on Teutonic art, music, and literature. Singing lullabies and carols, the group were enthusiastic entertainers at the language clubs' Christmas party.

There were also visiting days which the members spent at near-by grade schools observing teaching methods. In addition to enjoying all their good times, the F. T. A. succeeded in attaining their goal of promoting an interest in teaching and education.

Writing a new constitution in order to affiliate with the national organization of Future Homemakers of America made this year one of transition for the HOME ECONOMICS CLUB. However, traditional activities such as the annual mother-daughter tea, field trips and bake sales were not altered. One of the year's highlights was the capture of second prize in the Homecoming parade. Home Ec Club members encouraged interest in various phases of homemaking throughout their entire program.

developing

The shifting of stage scenery, actors reviewing their lines, and final adjustments on the colorful Chinese costumes preceded curtain time for "The Lute Song" presented by the junior-senior dramatic club, MASQUE AND WIG, and directed by Miss Beverly Schultz. During the past year, the club's purpose of stimulating interest in dramatics and developing and encouraging dramatic ability was fully achieved in many ways. For example, to prepare for their annual children's play in the spring, Masque and Wig members attended performances of "Robin Hood" and "Treasure Island" at the Goodman Theater.

talent by dramatic participation

Informal dramatic skits, discussions on acting principles, and trips to the Goodman Theater were methods used to acquaint JESTERS, freshmen and sophomores at R-B, with the art of the drama. Under the direction of Mr. Sanders, the twenty-five members, screened through tryouts in the fall, presented a spring play before the student body, adding stage experience to their broadened knowledge of fundamentals.

adding to

New club policies and student program participation highlighted this year's activities of BIOS LOGOS.

With the guidance of Mrs. Klein, the club underwent a transformation. Membership became open to anyone interested in expanding his interests in biology or in going into a biological career, instead of being limited to those enrolled in a biology class.

On the second Tuesday of each month students gathered to see films, collections, hobbies, or to hear a speaker who was often a fellow classmate. Field trips including guided nature tours taken through forest preserves completed the club's curriculum.

an interest in humanity

The successful girl-ask-boy dance, speakers from hospitals, and several demonstrations gave the FUTURE NURSES OF AMERICA fun and an insight into their chosen profession.

At their meetings Miss Suchy helped the girls plan such projects as the dressings for cancer patients. The club donated the money from "Destination Dogpatch," its dance given jointly with the Junior Red Cross Council, to several charitable organizations.

Christmas projects, the spring fund drive, and "Destination Dogpatch," kept the twenty-two active members of JUNIOR RED CROSS COUNCIL quite busy.

Extending their services to the less fortunate was the motto of this club, the members of which made Christmas boxes containing combs and brushes for needy children. Profits donated to an orphanage were proof that Li'l Abner and Sadie helped to make their dance a great success.

through words and symbols

Preparing for a future debate, Rich Stuhlfauth and Herb Lawrence conduct careful research.

Competing against other schools, holding practice debates, and taking field trips, the DEBATE CLUB endeavored to develop logical thinking in interscholastic debaters, to promote a better understanding of the problems of our day, and to break down the barriers of false prejudices.

At a suburban tournament held in November, the Challengers won a victory in their first competition by compiling a 10 out of 12 score in contests with La Grange, Bremen, Arlington, Downers Grove, East Aurora, and Niles. They also debated with Proviso concerning the Brannon farm plan, this year's national topic.

Bandaging cut fingers, removing ink spots from students' clothing, and running errands for students and faculty were responsibilities assumed by the OFFICE AND NURSE'S ASSISTANTS.

Each hour two students worked in the personnel office to help the office staff. They managed the lost-and-found, answered innumerable questions, and collected absentee sheets.

Fourteen girls daily received practice in nursing techniques as they aided the nurse, Miss Suchy, by checking in students who were absent due to illness, taking temperatures, and assisting in emergencies.

These two groups of volunteers worked together to strive for the efficient management of R-B by relinquishing their study hall time to perform these valuable services.

Searching for a book or magazine article, preparing books for circulation, and collecting delinquent fees were some of the duties performed by the LIBRARY AIDES.

Twenty-five girls gave assistance to students by demonstrating uses of various library materials. Some of their other chores included shelving books and selecting displays for the showcase. By carrying out these many duties, the aides lessened the work of the librarians, Mrs. Broe and Miss Brainerd.

Although a service organization, this club held many social activities including barbecue suppers, pizza parties, pot lucks, and the annual tea for their mothers. At regular meetings, the aides discussed the varied aspects of their jobs, and planned for the better management of the library.

Ushering, operating the cloak room, and keeping order at every home athletic function, the LETTERMEN displayed their leadership through service.

This organization is made up of boys who through ability combined with training have perfected their performance in athletics to such a degree as to earn a varsity letter, the major athletic award offered by the school. This award, which represents ability, exertion, and persistence, was worn proudly, and symbolized leadership.

The members of our school who constitute the Lettermen's Club represented the spirit of good sportsmanship through the year.

Giving notable service, promoting enthusiastic spirit, and striving for harmonious student-faculty relations, SCHOOL COUNCIL dedicated itself to a unified R-B.

Realizing the extensive needs of our school, the sixty-five elected representatives sought to coordinate our boundless interests by sponsoring a March of Dimes campaign, adopting our Greek war orphan, Maria, supervising school elections and clubs, and organizing a "Get Out the Vote" day to aid the community on election day.

Social projects included presenting four dances, planning the activities of the Homecoming week end, entertaining the faculty at a Christmas party, and seeking to awaken vital interest in student government through the "Know Your Council Week."

This ideal of cooperation and coordination is not new, but a part of an unending progression at our school. With the realization of this ideal and the hope of aiding our school in fulfilling its obligation to the community, this year Council once again led the way as a symbol of unity.

Microphones, lights, and sets were among the many tools ably handled by the STAGE TECHNICIANS. The boys in this group worked behind the scenes of R-B's productions and plays this year.

Pushing heavy equipment through the halls, setting up screens and projectors, and exhibiting thousands of feet of film were among the tasks of the MOVIE OPERATORS. They gave up their study halls to provide variety in the school day by aiding teachers in visual education projects.

Ready, aim, fire! These piercing orders became well known to every member of the new RIFLE CLUB. The club learned the safe and proper handling of firearms including both major necessary techniques and rules before participating in the National Postal Matches this year.

Guarding the pool, promoting an interest in swimming among the students, and enforcing safety regulations in the pool area were a few of the purposes of the new LIFE GUARD CLUB. This club is open to all students sixteen years or older who have passed their Senior Life Saving Test.

Serving our school and having fun together the members of HI-Y fulfilled their purpose of setting high standards of Christian character. The club, open to junior and senior boys, sponsored the Thanksgiving and Easter services, and, in conjunction with Sharclub and Council, the bundle drive. Hard work and planning by all the members resulted in another successful Christmas formal, this year centered around the theme "Aurora Borealis." Proceeds from this social highlight were donated by Hi-Y to charity.

To make the Hi-Y dance the biggest and the best, Dale Kanak, Jay Ward, Merle Denker, and Chuck Schander combine their efforts in hanging decorations.

Selling popcorn, opening coke bottles, and wrapping hot dogs were all familiar tasks to the girls in BECEUS. These girls, chosen by their teachers in their freshman year on the basis of dependability, character, and leadership, sold refreshments at athletic and school events throughout the year. Beceus girls donated their 5 per cent profit on sales to provide a Christmas tree for the main hall and other gifts for the school. The annual Christmas party and initiation tea in January provided interesting social experiences for the members.

publishing

Staying late for deadlines, munching hamburgers while thinking of a running head, and frantically crying out, "Who's that in the third row?" were familiar experiences of the ROUSER STAFF.

The thirty-six members worked diligently, trying to produce an outstanding yearbook to equal the All-American book of the preceding year. The staff met daily during fourth-fifth hour and also after school on Thursdays to plan and work on the book. When assignments were given out, the members interviewed sponsors, planned pictures, wrote copy, and designed layouts for their pages. The Christmas party and a dinner party in a loop restaurant in the spring brought enjoyment to all.

As the deadline draws near, editors Judy Schmerling, Janet Alonge, Nancy Felt, Mary Ann Novak, and Joan Ellacott, sort through pictures and chose those suitable for publication.

Mr. Harnstrom's senior journalism class published the paper in the first semester, but during the second semester, the opportunity of working on the paper was offered as an extra-curricular activity. Representatives from all four classes gained valuable experience as staff members.

Reporting a last-minute scoop to eager R-B-ites, typing articles for the deadline, and taking Saturday morning trips to the printers were some of the tasks that confronted the staff of the CLARION, R-B's bi-monthly newspaper.

Diane Humel and Lois Johnson, co-chairmen of the Sharclub charities committee, headed this year's bundle drive, one of Sharclub's most successful activities.

Sharclub's big and little sisters enjoy becoming better acquainted at their picnic held on the football field this year.

Greeting newcomers, playing the role of "big sisters," planning a bundle drive, turnabout dance, and orphans' party, supervising the annual Bow Day, and presiding at teas and dinners were some of the many activities in which the SHARCLUB girls united to work, share, and enjoy themselves. Striving toward worthwhile goals, they cultivated leadership, friendship, charity, and service.

Upon entrance to R-B, all girls automatically became members of Sharclub to serve in whatever capacity they wished.

The governing body, known as SHAR-CLUB SENATE, was composed of fifteen members—five sophomores, five juniors, and five seniors chosen for scholarship, leadership, character, and dependability by the girls of their class each spring.

Their election to Senate was formally announced in an all-girl assembly when each was tapped on the shoulder by graduating senior members with a golden key, Sharclub's honored symbol. From this group officers were selected who, with the cooperation of all its members, led Sharclub toward its goal of friendship among all girls.

heightening our loyalty

A familiar sight on game nights, Carol Maxant, Sandy Kosp, and Sue Nerad lead R-B's cheering section.

Bob Dumrose hurdles the barrier as Jim Cerny and Glen Van Derwerker look on.

This year R-B-ites truly found out what school spirit means. Through tense grid-iron battles, while straining with a speeding trackster, and when pleading with the basketball team for "just one more basket" fans and players alike grew closer together, fighting for victory for the blue and white. They tried, then faltered, then fought harder than ever before. Through its sports R-B found that loyalty is more than just a word.

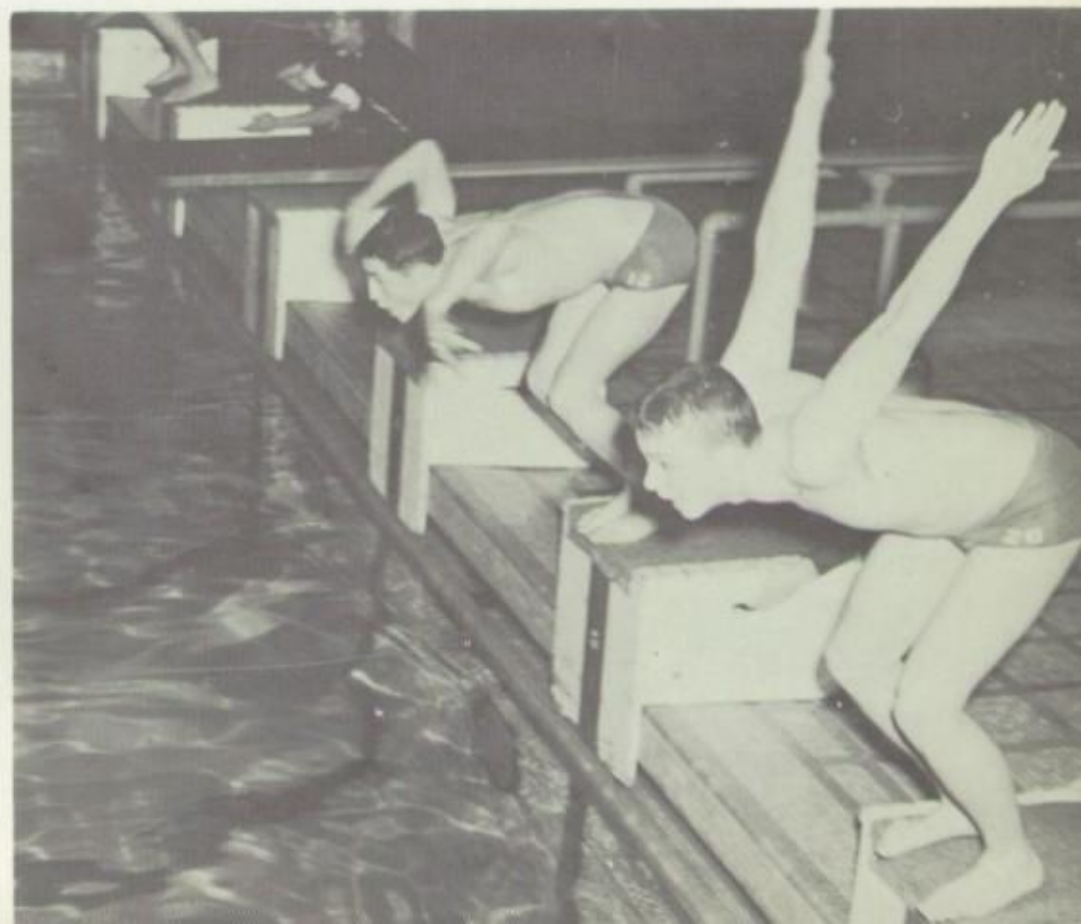

Symmetry and grace in cheers prove that long hours of practice do pay off.

Varsity basketball players listen intently to a half-time pep talk.

Conference team this year. By defeating Arlington, the Bulldogs proved that they had learned the true meaning of team work. Pouring their hearts out between the goal posts, the varsity showed themselves to be a united and hard-working squad.

The tense feeling of determination before a game, the excitement and suspense during the struggle, and the joy or sorrow at the conclusion of the contest were experiences felt by the FROSH-SOPH FOOTBALL TEAM, directed by Coach Fleener. The Bullpups gained valuable experience through practicing good sportsmanship and by cultivating higher goals and ideals.

Learning and applying the fundamentals of football, knowing what teamwork is, and realizing what victory meant, the FRESHMEN FOOTBALL TEAM, under the direction of Coach Boyd, showed comradeship and fight through the last minute of every game. Their performance hinted at excellent possibilities for next year's frosh-soph team.

The G.A.A. girls displayed not only talent but good sportsmanship in their various activities, which included tournaments, races, basketball, bowling, and swimming. At the yearly intra-mural swimming meet in the fall, the freshmen girls won top honors and a trophy. The girls from R-B also took fourth place in the all-state swimming meet. Another outstanding activity this year was Recop Night (Father-Daughter Night). The G.A.A. board played host to all members at a pizza party in the fall.

In the spring the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet was held. There the girls who had earned enough points received their awards, dramatically concluding another active and successful year.

Succumbing after a hard-fought contest, drilling with intensity and returning to battle again, the R-B VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM had what most people would consider an unsuccessful season. However, the boxscore doesn't tell the complete Bulldog story. It can't convey the tenseness felt by R-B-ites as their team almost downed the highly rated Glenbard five. Its figures fail to express the incredulity felt on the court and in the stands when R-B lost to the Demons from Maine in the last second of play. It misses the wave of desperation prevailing when the gun sounded leaving the score favoring Downers Grove by one point. Perhaps this season can best be referred to as a year of learning, not only for the squad, but for the students who learned a loyalty to a team, not for their wins or losses, but for the fight and drive which they displayed in every game.

Although the JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM displayed the same record as the varsity as far as not winning a game, they showed determination and drive, commendable in any team, regardless of scores. The experience they gained in their various tilts proved to be a means of developing more than basketball skill.

Practicing with patience, drilling for accuracy, and planning for the future, the R-B FROSH-SOPH BASKETBALL TEAM finished the '56-'57 basketball season with a seven wins-thirteen losses record. The team never seemed to fulfill the potential which they displayed at the onset of the season; however, the experience which they gained and the periodic brilliance which they showed seemed to indicate the possibility of a highly successful varsity squad in the near future.

The FRESHMAN BASKETBALL TEAM showed a great deal of promise and finished the season with a 5-9 record. Their proven abilities showed that they will be a strengthening influence on the next year's frosh-soph squad.

A resounding bang, a simultaneous splash, and echoing cheers were heard, encouraging R-B's VARSITY SWIMMING TEAM on to victory. Coached by Mr. Perkins and Mr. Halverson, the young team broke 5 out of the 9 records at R-B. The co-captains, Roger Sladek and Harold Voris led their team against suburban schools displaying a tremendous amount of team spirit.

Exercising a difficult arm hold, gaining the decision, pinning an opponent—these were all vital parts of the season finished by R-B's '57 WRESTLING SQUAD. Honorary Captain for Mr. Sander's Varsity squad was Marv Getty and for Mr. Napier's Frosh-Soph squad was Neil Butler. The season's score for the Varsity was 4-13 and for the Frosh-Soph was 3-13. Marv Getty and Herb Lawrence honored R-B by winning third place in the sectional wrestling tournament at Reavis High School. Two members of R-B's team, Marv Getty and Gary Doolen were named to the West Suburban All-Conference team.

Herb Lawrence and Marv Getty demonstrate a difficult hold.

Smashing a serve across the court, practicing long hours in the sun, and using close teamwork in a doubles match were components of another season for R-B's TENNIS TEAM. The '57 squad, dominated by underclassmen, worked diligently to build a strong team for future years. Coached by Mr. Boley, the team displayed durability and skill.

Mr. Boley demonstrates an important technique for Dean Rogeness, Randy Raphel, and Ray Peterson.

The cracking sound of the bat, the thrilling sensation of a home run, and the suspense when the bases are loaded with two outs all made the '56 season a fascinating one for R-B's BASEBALL teams. The varsity team had a tie record of seven wins and seven losses, while the frosh-soph squad scored four wins against eight losses. This year's squad, coached by Mr. Boyd, hoped to surpass last year's record with a truly victorious season.

Displaying skill, advocating good sportsmanship, and stressing team cooperation, the 1956 GOLF TEAM met another year's challenges.

The 1956 season found the varsity golfers, under the coaching of Mr. Harnstrom, in eighth place in the conference while the frosh-soph team finished in seventh place. Working as a combined team, the varsity and frosh-soph golfers defeated Reavis in a non-conference match, and the faculty golfers recouped the previous year's loss by defeating R-B's golf team in the annual Faculty versus Students contest.

Accomplishing an outstanding feat, Jim Rehak, team captain, shot a 78 in the district meet at Timber Trails and qualified for the state meet held at Champaign, Illinois.

Frosh - soph Cheerleaders — FIRST ROW: Janis Barberie, Chuck Tiedje, Bette Rattner. SECOND ROW: Ann Leffer, Marlene Skarda, Lynn Cooper, Cynthia Sazama.

Climaxing a cheer, Judy Ellingson executes a fine tiger jump.

Learning new cheers, practicing many afternoons in the gym, and displaying their talents at the games, the CHEER-LEADERS led the student body in rooting for our team.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Rhind, the cheerleaders practiced for many hours. At the pep assemblies and games, the girls encouraged all the R-B-ites to cheer the football and basketball teams on to victory. Even in the face of defeat, they kept their spirits high and instilled their enthusiasm into numerous students.

Our story told by the '57 ROUSER terminates with graduation, and no longer will the class of 1957 be enclosed in the varying dimensions of R-B. Instead they will encompass the globe and encounter the infinite dimensions of life.
